Did you Know?...

-- NY has had 8 different players on the NFL I/R this year...It's no wonder that team owner Fisher is on his second transaction deposit.

-- After 7 straight weeks as overall point leader, LA has dropped to second behind the more consistent (5 straight wins) SC Bandits. ← Balay

-- The total point difference between 6 teams (3rd thru 8th place) is only 31 points.

Worst game day team owner so far this year...Eggo, by a landslide! Miami consistently has high scoring days from the subs, while its starters struggle. This is especially true of the Quarterbacks.

The coastal division is getting tight, after winning its first 6 games, VA has lost 4 in a row, while RD has won its last 3.

Suprise! Looks like team owner Doug Weaver won his fight about the team name...who ever said "Cathy wears the pants in that family".?

During weeks 15-17, all teams will continue to submit weekly line-ups, whether or not in the playoffs!!!

All playoffs occur during weeks 15 and 16.

Total of fourteen regular season games. Seven at home, seven away.

Play each team in division twice. One at home, one away.

Play each non-division team once.

No team will begin the season with four straight home or away games.

Every team has at least two of its final five games at home, one of its last three.

Within each division, each team will have played an equal amount of intradivision games at any point during the season.

Special 'rivalry weeks' will be played throughout the season, during week 5 and the final three weeks (12-14) of head-to-head competition, when every league team will play within its own division.
