

THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME:

All the home teams won in Week 2, and you'll notice in the standings that the point race is right back where we left off last year, with Wisconsin and Pennsylvania 1 and 2, and the only two teams who have broken the 100 point barrier. Of course, one of those teams broke the 100-point barrier in the first week!

QUOTABLE:

"This sucks! I'm averaging UNDER 100 points a week!" - Wisconsin owner David Zilberfarb.

ABBREVIATED VERSION:

This version of the newsletter will be slightly abbreviated, because I had to do it at work. The computer at the Fantasy Football Flyer headquarters (Ying's house) is down for a few days while I figure out how to reconfigure everything for Windows 95 (Yes, I've submitted to Bill Gates!)

GAME SUMMARIES:

WISCONSIN 81, CAROLINA 34

The Cheeseheads continue to roll, as Steve Young topped his previous high with another 21 points this week. Irving Fryar added 20 points for the second week in a row. WR Flipper Anderson became the first Cheesehead player this year to not score a point. The Big Pond Scum (ah, er... Bang) saw 7 of 8 players score, but none of them in double digits. The Bang was led by QB Scott Mitchell and WR Terance Mathis with 8 apiece. (Yes, you read that correctly... a QB had high score for Banger's team this week... that's GOT TO BE a first!!!)

PENNSYLVANIA 76, MIAMI 27

The Wildcats, who must have taken Week 1 off, kicked things into high gear, as 1st-round pick WR Robert Brooks paced the team with a season-high 23 points. WR Tony Martin and RB Marshall Faulk were also in double digits for the Cats, as 7 of 8 starters scored. The Muffdivers were paced by WR Rob Moore and RB Natrone Means, who scored 8 apiece.

NEW YORK 54, LOS ANGELES 20

The Griffons wide receivers continue to kick butt, posting another 27 points this week, led by Carl Pickens with 11 points. RB Thurman Thomas paced the NY attack this week, with 13 points. Gary Brown was the lone starter not to score. The Riot! had a rather balanced attack, but unfortunately the high scorers (RBs Edgar Bennett and Ricky Watters) all scored just 5 points.

RICHMOND 52, PITTSBURGH 49

Hell has frozen over. Pigs are flying. Richmond is 2-0. This game would have ended in a tie if not for the home field advantage. We are now into our 4th year and still do not have a tie! RB Rashaan Salaam led the Raptors, with 12 points, while WR Fred Barnett kicked in 11. And can anyone explain why the Pachyderms DID NOT play San Francisco kicker Doug Brien, with the 49ers playing the Falcons? THAT alone cost Pittsburgh the win! The Pachys were paced by QB Brett Favre with 19, and RBs Robert Smith (14) and Marcus Allen (11).

DALLAS 44, BUTLER 19

Jerry Rice demonstrates again that he is God, and would have beaten the Blowfish single-handedly with 23 points for the Armadillos. TE Brent Jones added 6 for Dallas. The Blowfish were led by QB Jeff Blake, who posted 10 points. WR Eric Metcalf added 5.

STATE COLLEGE 40, MERCER 12

The Bandits benched WR Anthony Miller on the wrong week -- but the Bandits won despite sitting Miller and his 3 TD, 100-plus yard performance. QB Stan Humphries led State College, with 12. Rookie RB Derek Loville added 10. Only 2 Mustangs scored on the week: K Norm Johnson had 10 points and QB Jeff George added 2.
